

The Ski Leaders of Tomorrow Seminar

INVITATION

On behalf of the Norwegian Ski Federation we are very happy to invite YOU as one of the participants to join our international seminar “The Ski Leaders of Tomorrow”.

The main objective of the seminar is to share experiences across borders through inspiring speakers and personal relations to develop a common understanding on how to bring more women to the sports industry.

The Norwegian Ski Federation launched in February 2018 the strategic, sustainable development program “Ski Leaders of Tomorrow”. The three years program offers the 25 participants a personal mentor. Our mentors are senior managers offering their strong skills and experiences from sports and leadership on an international level. The main objective of the program is to develop more women in elite coaching and executive sports management. In Norway 25 motivated women from upcoming trainer- or management roles have been appointed to join the Norwegian program. Now they are all very eager to meet with you and learn from your international views.
